COURT ACTION PLANNED

Assistant Secretary of State
Declares Election Laws of State are Muddled

A new "plot" by the Nonpartisan league has been discovered. And a new "plot" by the anti-Townley men has been discovered.

Both of which appear to be due to the complicated and ambiguous election laws of North Dakota, which the legislature, in the last four years, has done nothing to correct.

The Nonpartisan league organ in Fargo raised a great disturbance because all the individual nominations for the election in November are printed in one column.

The ballot, as many county auditors are having it printed, is a three-column ballot, having a column for Governor Frazier and other victorians in the Republican primary; a Democratic column and an individual nominations column.

League Name Used
In the individual nominations column there are two divisions. The socialists filed individual nominations for presidential electors. These are blocked together and designated as socialists. The Nonpartisan individual nominations, being men to take the places of those defeated in the Republican primary, are blocked together and are designated as Nonpartisan league candidates.

The league organ says it is a plot to put the socialists and the Nonpartisan individual nominations in one column.

Gives League Advantage
Some anti-Townley men declared that it is an illegal and unfair advantage to give the Nonpartisan league candidates in labeling them as candidates of the league.

In 1912 Attorney General Costello held that the individual nominations should go in one column. Other persons are said to have held that there should be separate columns.

In 1916 Attorney General Linde held that it was not permissible to designate Nonpartisan league candidates on the ballot because the league had no legal standing as a political party.

If these attorney generals were correct then the league is given an unfair advantage in this fall's ballots.

The league organ declares that there is a plot on, and it names Attorney General Langer, Secretary of State Hall and others as being in the "plot." It is understood that Langer holds a three-column ballot is permissible.

Up to Auditors
It was explained today by Assistant Secretary of State Duffy, Mr. Hall being out of the city, that the county auditors are charged with the duty of printing the ballots and they may designate them. The office of the secretary of state has not attempted to do more than the law allows—which is to certify the candidates to the county auditors.

Considerable money would be saved in printing a three-column ballot, and under the present designation many people believe that the league candidates, being designated as such on a smaller ballot, would gain instead of lose.

A smaller ballot also would aid people in voting, as criticism has been voiced for years against a long and complicated ballot.

One of the recommendations of Secretary of State Hall to the legislature is that the election laws be made plain and clarified "by someone who understands how to write clear English."

STOCKYARDS CASE IS POSTPONED

Washington, Oct. 14.—The District of Columbia supreme court at the request of government counsel postponed until one week hence the trial of the "big five" packing companies to dispose of their stockyard holdings to Prince and company, of Boston.

CUBA SEEKING FINANCIAL AID

Washington, Oct. 14.—Cuba has appealed to the American government for aid in its present financial difficulties. The appeal has been taken under consideration by the government.

MACSWINEY WEAK
London, Oct. 14.—Terence MacSwiney, Lord Mayor of Cork, on a hunger strike, was reported weak today. This is the 63rd day of his hunger strike.

DOG BRINGS BACK HER RACK ROLL

ALEXANDRIA, Ind.—The old family dog of the Herman family gets an extra large bone these days, and there's a good reason. Mrs. Herman lost a roll containing $105. She thought she lost it out of her automobile, and her surprise was great when two days later the dog turned up with the money in his mouth. Where he got it is a mystery.

"KING OF HOBOES" CALLS ON WILSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The hobo vote will go Democratic. So says "Jeff Davis," "king of the hobo," who called on President Wilson to pledge the "Hobos of America," of which he is president, to Cox. Although Davis is a Democrat, he says he was received at the White House by three Republican presidents, McKinley, Taft and Roosevelt. "Mike," the only hobo money in the world, travels by express while Jeff rides the rails. Jeff says he swung the hobo vote for Wilson in 1916 making speeches from the tops of freight cars. "Mike's" greatest achievement was raising $75,000 in a Salvation Army drive.

FEDERAL JURY
INDICTS 24
AT GATE CITY

Chief Bill Returned is Against Robert B. Leady, Federal Dry Officer

Fargo, Oct. 14.—Robert B. Leady, former federal prohibition chief in charge of the Fargo office, was indicted by the federal grand jury which reported twenty-four indictments.

The indictment charges two counts of a large conspiracy in violation of the national prohibition act, and the transportation of liquor from Moorhead to Sioux Falls, S. D.

Theodore Musgaard, former clerk in the federal prohibition office, one E. O. Haugen of Moorhead, and one John Doe, were also indicted in connection with the alleged transportation of liquor.

Three Men Under Arrest
Although Leady, Musgaard and Haugen were placed under arrest, the three were this morning arrested on bench warrants by a deputy United States marshal, on the strength of the indictments returned against them.

The three defendants were arraigned before Judge Charles F. Anderson of the United States district court at 12:30 p. m. Bail in each case was set at $10,000.

Theodore Musgaard entered a plea of not guilty. Leady and Haugen entered their pleas until next Friday morning. The latter two defendants were represented in court by Judge W. H. Barnett.

Judge Barnett added the court to reduce the bail in the case of Leady and Haugen, declaring that the men would not flee government authorities but intended to put up a good strong fight.

"Devilish Plot," Says Hildreth.
M. A. Hildreth, United States district attorney in fighting to have bail remain at $5,000 as previously set by Philip Elliott, United States commissioner, told the court that the case against the three men was a "devilish plot to beat the government of the national prohibition act."

He told the court that Leady is the "arch enemy" in the alleged transportation of liquor.

Judge Anderson informed the prosecuting counsel and the attorney for the defendants that he intended to go into the case carefully. Bail was set at $5,000.

To Enter Pleas Friday
Friday morning was set as the time when the defendants, Musgaard and Leady, will enter their pleas. If the court sees fit at that time he may reduce the amount of bail.

The United States district attorney told the court that the affairs of the prohibition office are in a bad shape and that bottles have been found filled with rain water, whiskey being

800,000 MINERS IN ENGLAND TO STRIKE MONDAY

Notices Become Effective Saturday Night Unless Some New Action is Taken

COMPROMISE REJECTED

Heavy Majority is Returned in Favor of Strike at Miners' Meeting

London, Oct. 14.—The United Kingdom today was faced with perhaps the most obvious industrial crisis in its history, due to the decision of the coal miners to allow the strike notices to become effective Saturday night, following the rejection of the compromise offer to their demand for a two shilling per shift increase.

It seemed certain that unless the government or the mine owners conceded the demands of the men or made fresh attractive offers, more than 800,000 miners would not return to the pits Monday, thereby throwing hundreds of thousands of workers in other industries out of work and causing a critical situation in the economic life of the country.

Reject Offer.
Official returns from the national miners' ballot concerning the datum of the proposal of the miners showed an overwhelming majority in favor of rejection. At this morning's conference of the miners' delegation a small minority held out for the submission of the claims of the men for arbitration.

It was stated the miners' executive committee expected to be summoned to the board of trade this afternoon, but if this should occur or what it presaged was a matter of speculation.

ENGLISH LORDS
TOWARD IRISH

Lord Robert Cecil Joins Other
Liberals and Makes a Statement

WANTS AN INVESTIGATION
London, Oct. 14.—Denunciation of the government's Irish policy by the liberal forces of the country represented by the recent statement of Viscount Grey, former Premier Asquith and Viscount Morley seems likely to grow into a formidable movement. The latest recruit is Lord Robert Cecil, one of the most respected of the unionist leaders, who has joined Viscount Grey in a letter to the press calling for an investigation by a constitutional tribunal as to whether the government is responsible for the reprisals in Ireland.

The letter begins by referring to Premier Lloyd George's speech as assuming that the reprisals have been committed by the shooting by police of those reasonably suspected of an intention to attack them, or who had been incontrovertibly guilty of the murder of their fellows.

Account Incomplete
"That is a very incomplete account of the reprisals of the military," says Lord Cecil.

"It is alleged on apparently overwhelming evidence that the armed forces of the crown have for some months systematically destroyed or burned buildings and other property in towns, villages and farms in Ireland; that they have fired rifles and thrown bombs at random, killing and wounding the inhabitants and driving women and children of all ages and in all conditions of health to the fields and mountains."

"These acts undoubtedly were committed in revenge for horrible outrages perpetrated in the districts concerned but they have not been confined to those individuals who have been guilty of such outrages. On the contrary the victims have included Protestants and Unionists who used to be bitter opponents of the Sinn Fein."

"It is further alleged that the policy which produced this result was sanctioned by the ministers of the crown including the prime minister himself. These are serious charges and necessitate an investigation by a constitutional tribunal."

ANOTHER KILLED
Dublin, Oct. 14.—A civilian attacked an armored car near here this afternoon. A soldier was wounded and a civilian is reported killed.

NEWSPAPER UNION

COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION
PROPOSAL MADE

Superintendent Ward, President of Southwestern Division, Outlines Plan

OLD METHOD HELD WRONG

Musical Program Also Party Activities of Slope Convention

The North Dakota State Teachers' association, southwestern division, opened its meetings in Bismarck today in the Presbyterian church. The meeting was called to order by Supt. C. L. Love of Mandan, secretary of the association.

After invocation by Reverend H. C. Postlethwaite and a musical number the address of welcome was given by the visiting teachers by the president of the Commercial club, C. L. Young. He urged upon teachers their duty and opportunity in promoting civic affairs.

Superintendent M. E. McCurdy, of McLean county, responded in a most happy manner, emphasizing the pleasure the teaching group feels in attending this meeting at Bismarck and thanking the city for the cordial welcome delivered by the president of Bismarck Commercial club.

Ward Speaks
The chief address of the afternoon was that of Superintendent C. E. Ward of Stark county, president of the Southwestern division of the State Teachers' association. President Ward discussed "The necessity of reorganization in administration, as it affects the office of county superintendent."

"We need legislation," President Ward stated, to bring about a change in the method of securing the county superintendent. He advocated a county board of education selected from the ranks of farmers, business, and professional men and women of the county at large. They should be nominated and elected as any other county officers at the general election for a term specified by law. There should be three or five members, he said.

The chief duty of this board should be that of appointing the county superintendent. The county superintendent should be chosen as a high class citizen, superintending, from any place in the United States or our own state or county, who is the very best educational available, with the highest qualifications and general fitness, and with a salary necessary to secure the best talent, he said.

Duties of Superintendent
The county superintendent, as appointed, should stand in the same relation to the county board of education as does the city superintendent to his board of education; that of professional adviser, and chief administrator of all matters in the administration and supervision of the schools of the county.

Reasons for Change
The necessity for better rural schools, to be brought about in the shortest possible time. The one-room school of the farmer is wasteful of the public funds; it is inefficient; it does not educate. The children in rural communities must have the very best schools available, under thoroughly qualified teachers. There must be a well equipped high school for every community, right in the community, with the children remaining in their homes on the farms, he said.

Plan Well Tested
The plan urged, Mr. Ward explained, is not a new one. It is worked in Iowa and many southern states, such as Georgia and in the east in Delaware and other states.

Following the president's address, which was listened to with intense interest, was a discussion of primary methods by Miss Grace Randall, of Owatonna, Minn.

The evening session will begin at 8:00 o'clock this evening in the Presbyterian church. The Thursday musical club will render a short program, followed by an address by Reverend E. F. Jordan, the new pastor of the First Baptist church. The chief address of the evening will be that of Dr. Leslie Hildgen, until recently world president of the Association of Rotary clubs. Dr. Hildgen is advertised as a traveler and speaker of international renown.

HARDING ASKS
"SOLID SOUTH" TO GIVE VOTES

Says Republican Victory Would Mean Elimination of Sectionalism

SWINGS TO LOUISVILLE

Makes Rear Platform Speeches in Country Normally Heavily Democratic

On Board Senator Harding's Special Train, Oct. 14.—After his one-day invasion of Tennessee Senator Harding was on his way to Louisville, Ky. where he is to speak tonight. He left Chattanooga last night after an address in the auditorium and to an overflow crowd on the street outside. The senator spent most of the day traveling through a section of Kentucky that normally belongs to the "solid south." At various places he made talks from the platform of his train urging support for Republicans in the south.

In his speeches at Chattanooga, Senator Harding assured his audience that a Republican victory would mean the same policy of "helpful consideration for production north or south."

Eliminate Sectionalism
He declared that sectional misunderstanding could be removed by "diversified politics." The Republican party, the senator added, has no policy for one section that it does not preach for all sections alike.

Senator Harding will go from Louisville to Indianapolis where he will deliver an address tomorrow night before returning to his home in Marion. He speaks in St. Louis Saturday night.

As in his Chattanooga speech the nominee in rear-platform speeches made the record of the present administration the basis of his appeal for Republican support in the south. He also emphasized that his party preached no doctrine that could not be applied to all sections of the country.

MILLION WORTH OF TRUCKS ARE GOING TO RUIN

War Materials Exposed to All Kinds of Weather—Criticism and Defense

North Dakota has a million dollars worth of trucks and other surplus war materials, part of which stands on open prairie exposed to all kinds of weather.

The loss due to deterioration because of lack of proper care is enormous. Criticism has been directed toward the state highway commission because of the condition. The highway commission's answer is that there are no funds available to provide storage.

The total value of the materials given the state by the federal government is placed at $1,050,159.38 by W. H. Robinson, state engineer. They include 296 trucks, 30 tons of spare parts, 4 tractors, 8 Ford ambulances, 1 light Ford truck, 4 motorcycles, sprinkling wagons, clam shell bucket, surveyors transit, drinking water cans, shovels and hatchets, etc.

According to the state engineer it is quite probable that many valuable parts, which have been stored in tents, have been stolen.

An appropriation for the erection of a storage building is advocated by the engineer. The state is required to pay freight on the war materials and it is said that 25 trucks were rejected because the commission could not pay the freight.

Many of the trucks are distributed to counties for local use.

Now he has been placed in supreme command of General Wrangel's anti-Bolshevik forces in South Russia. This picture is a new photo of the "fair haired boy" of the French military establishment.

DEMAND PROBE OF KILLING OF
MANY HAITIANS

Colored People's Organization
Describe it as the "American Invasion"

MARINE CORPS REPORT

New York, Oct. 14.—Full investigation by a nonpartisan committee of Americans and Haitians of the administration of affairs in Haiti by American forces were included in a statement today by the national association for the advancement of the colored people. Gradual withdrawal of United States marines and appointment of a commission to report on preparation to Haitians who suffered loss from "the American invasion" were recommended.

The committee made public a telegram to Senator Harding commending him on the result of your inquiry into the constitutional and legal basis of the invasion.

DISCLOSURE ASTOUNDS.
Washington, Oct. 14.—Disclosure that a summary investigation of alleged "officially authorized" killing of Haitian natives by United States marines was ordered more than a year ago by Major General Barnett, then commander of the marine corps, was made in publication of a report by General Barnett on operations in Haiti during American occupation.

Evidence at the trial of two natives charged with the killing of natives shocked and beyond expression. General Barnett said in a letter of September 27 to Colonel John H. Russell, commanding in Haiti, or during an immediate investigation, with the approval of Secretary Daniels, it was at once carried out by Colonel Russell, who submitted a report to the navy department on March 20, 1920, by General Barnett.

Secretary Daniels, it was shown, ordered General Barnett, on Sept. 15, last, to submit a special report on conditions causing the investigation. This report was incorporated in the general operations report made today. General Barnett received the order while on leave of absence shortly after publication of statements by Senator Harding, Republican presidential nominee, criticizing the naval administration in Haiti.

"Judging by the knowledge gained only from the cases that have been brought before me," the general declared in his letter to Colonel Russell, "ordering the investigation, I think that the marine corps has been sadly lacking in right and justice, and I look to you to see that this is corrected at once."

Orders Change
It was shocked beyond expression to hear of such things and to know that it was at all possible that duty could be so badly performed by an officer of such class.

"I want personal instructions sent to every officer and non-commissioned officer, both with the marines and gendarmes (Haitian constabulary) that conditions as shown by the evidence of the trial of the natives above referred to must be corrected and that such action cannot be tolerated."

WILSON LETTER
Washington, Oct. 14.—President Wilson in a letter read today for the conference of the federal board for vocational education declared the importance of vocational rehabilitation of disabled soldiers "cannot be exaggerated for the welfare of the nation and the development of its energies."

Delegates to Agricultural Convention Expect to Present Their Arguments

HARDING IN DENIAL

Reserve Board Governor Asserts Policy is Not Framed to Hurt Agriculture

Washington, Oct. 14.—Secretary Houston reiterated today told representatives of agriculture interests in conference here that the treasury would not be a party to the withholding of any commodity from the market in order to maintain artificially high prices.

Spokesmen for the delegation were frank in their criticism of Mr. Houston's recent statement that prices had begun to recede but the secretary told them frankly that his statement was the truth.

Washington, Oct. 14.—Prepared to press their demands of a more liberal credit policy, representatives of agricultural interests in convention here met today with the expectation that they would be granted a hearing before the full membership of the Federal Reserve board and its agents assembled for the regular fall meeting.

Delegates to the agricultural convention hope to be able to present their arguments before the board formulates its policy insofar as it affects credit to farmers.

Governor Harding, of the reserve board, yesterday told a committee that the board was preparing a statement of policy covering all phases of the credit situation. The statement, he said, probably would be made public Saturday.

Denies Curtailment.
Governor Harding denied that the board had issued instructions which would result in curtailment of farmers' credit.

For three hours a committee from the reserve board listened to a delegation from the agricultural conference describe conditions which they said threatened the life of the nation through a reduction of food production. Inability to obtain financial assistance is working the greatest hardship on farmers, the board's committee was informed.

BETTER MARKET.
Chicago, Oct. 14.—General buying, partly on seaboard account, turned the wheat market upward today after some depression at the start. Initial declines were ascribed to various views taken of the government report on farm reserves. On the other hand, some indicated that a fair amount of export business was in progress. Opening quotations, which set from unchanged figures to lower prices, with December at 24 1/2 to 25 1/2 and March at 24 1/2 to 25 1/2, were followed by a moderate setback, and then an ascent to well above yesterday's close.

After the market weakened decidedly as the result of heavy selling of a prominent eastern trader, who was said to have been long. The close was nervous, 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents net lower.

WHEAT STOCK TOTAL.
Washington, Oct. 14.—Stocks of wheat in the United States on October 1 totaled 68,000,000, according to the department of agriculture.

S. A. YIELD.
Buenos Aires, Oct. 14.—The wheat and other crops of which have been threatened by result of the growth now promises favorable yields because of opportune rains.

ENUMERATION IN STATE SHOWS A
LOSS OVER 1919

Twenty-four Less Pupils, Figures Show—Burleigh County Apportionment

A slight decrease in the number of persons between 6 and 20 years of age, inclusive, is shown in school enumeration figures for the state, completed today.

They are rolled in 1920 by the state 204,887 in the enumeration, and in 1919 there were 204,921.

The amount to be apportioned to schools, derived from interest and income of school lands, etc., is $157,762.90 for the present quarterly division.

Cass county has the largest number of school pupils in the state, there being 12,121 in the county and Sioux county has the smallest number, there being 18. The total quarterly distribution for Cass county is $9,338.17 and for Sioux county, $706.86.

Apportionment for some other counties follows: Grand Forks county, $8,875.12; Stutsman county, $8,375.37; Morton county, $8,351.40; apportionment, $4,049.33; apportionment, $1,934.93.

REGULAR MAIL SERVICE.
St. Paul, Oct. 14.—Regular postal mail service between St. Paul and Chicago will start Monday, it was announced today, and revealing that the second of three planes to be used at the Twin Cities end had been shipped.

GREAT TUNNEL WORK STARTED UNDER HUDSON

Structure will be Completed by 1924—Four Driveways are Planned

TO REMOVE BLOCKADES

New York, Oct. 12.—Construction of a ventral tunnel under the Hudson river between New York and Jersey City started yesterday with the breaking of ground for one of the tubes by aircrafts, State, county and municipal officials from both states have been invited to participate in the ceremonies in Manhattan this afternoon. Engineers expect to complete the structure by 1924. The cost, estimated at $29,000,000, is to be borne equally by the two states. Shore works, including shafts and approaches, will require eighteen months to construct, after which actual work of boring under the river is to begin.

Continued congestion at the ferries between New York and New Jersey prompts the belief of tunnel engineers that 5,500,000 motor and horse-drawn conveyances will use the tube in 1924, with traffic showing a steady increase, reaching an annual figure of 22,000,000 vehicles by 1940. Tolls based on the ferry rates will be levied for twenty weeks to pay for the tube, and then it would be free for the use of all.

Four Driveways. Four driveways, two in each direction, will be provided. A sidewalk, two feet in width, also is planned. The tunnel, comprising twin east iron tubes each with an external diameter of 29 feet, will be six feet wider than the Pennsylvania railroad tubes under the Hudson East river.

Traffic blockades, now common on ferries, would be precluded by providing at each end of the tube derrick equipped trucks to take stalled automobiles in tow. Three driveways in each direction will be furnished on the approaches, because slight inclines there are expected to slow down the movement of the vehicular queues.

Ventilation to rid the tunnel of carbon monoxide gases from automobile exhausts will be furnished by four large shafts and also by an air duct under the roadway and an exhaust above. Smoky vehicles of culate noxious gas freely in closed places but chemists working on the tunnel ventilation system estimate that at the highest point of saturation there will be only 3.5 parts of carbon monoxide to 10,000 parts of air in the tube. This compares with 100 parts of gas to 10,000 parts of air they figured to give a man a headache.

PRINCE'S WIFE SPURNS MILLION OFFERED TO BRING DIVORCE

MILE. LAMBRINE AND (INSET) PRINCE CAROL

BUCHAREST, Rumania.—Mile. Zita Lambrine, morganatic wife of Prince Carol of Rumania, has refused to sell her husband for $5,000,000. That was the amount offered her, by Queen Marie of Rumania, if she would quit the prince and marry some one else according to a dispatch from Paris.

The offer was made, it is said, in the hopes that the romance, which has resulted in Prince Carol twice renouncing his right to the Rumanian throne, would thus be finished for good and all.

BLACK LIST OF CARELESS PLANS AGAINST FIRES

Negligent Owners Whose Carelessness Contribute to Great Loss Are Attacked

NEW PLAN OF NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 13.—Negligent property owners whose carelessness in the past has contributed to the loss of 15,000 lives and the destruction of $250,000,000 annually by fire in the United States, are going to be "black-listed" by fire department officials in a number of cities this year in accordance with a plan of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. For weeks, in anticipation of the observance of Fire Prevention day throughout the nation tomorrow, the following warning has been displayed on billboards, street cars and in other public places.

"Keep off the fire department's blacklist!"

"Prior to Fire Prevention day, members of the uniformed force will make inspections of business and residential properties. All premises containing accumulations of rubbish, defective chimneys and flues, improper heating devices or any other conditions constituting a public menace will be carefully noted and recorded."

"Chief, Fire Department."

Observance of Fire Prevention day, which falls on the forty-ninth anniversary of the burning of Chicago, will be general throughout the United States, according to an announcement by the National Board of Fire Underwriters here, the governors of many states having issued proclamations in accordance with the request of President Wilson.

The New York city fire department, through its bureau of fire prevention, Prince Carol feels the same way his wife does about it. He recently returned to Paris after a visit to the United States. He became so entangled at the offer to buy off his wife that he threatened to return to America and become a plain citizen.

In so doing he would legalize his marriage and also legalize his infant son born in Paris several months ago. Mile. Lambrine is the daughter of a Rumanian general. She and the prince were married in Odessa in 1918.

has planned a program which includes the issuance of 100,000 letters to school children and the parents, the display of 10,000 red placards in public places, the circulation of stereoscopic slides in motion picture houses, the imprinting of "riders" on 100,000 restaurant menus and city department letters, and the utilization of billboard space.

Special attention is devoted to the school children because of the fact that in the United States there are on an average, approximately five school fires every day. More than one-third of the school fires for the three years 1916, 1917, and 1918, re-

The Principle That Saves Principal

The principle involved in the design of the Willys-Knight Motor is so mechanically perfect that very little principal is involved in its maintenance.

It has no valves to grind, its carbon deposit is negligible, and continuous use simply puts it in, finer trim, for it is a feature of the Knight Sleeve-Valve Motor that it actually improves with use.

It is a car of magnificent distances, cumulative power, and ascending efficiency, whose assessments for maintenance are lighter than on any car not operated on the sleeve-valve principle.

"BLUEBEARD" MAKES REPUTATION FOR HIS WITTICISMS

Paris, Oct. 13.—Henri Landru, who is shortly to be placed on trial on charges growing out of the disappearance of 11 women to whom he had promised marriage and who has acquired quite a reputation as a dry wit since his incarceration 18 months ago, showed deep interest in the health of the Mayor of Cork, Terence MacSwiney, on a hunger strike in a British prison.

Every morning he inquired of the jailer whether MacSwiney was still alive.

For a few days Landru showed a strong disinclination to partake of the usual prison fare.

"Are you trying to do the MacSwiney stunt, starve yourself?" the jailer inquired.

"The innocent, never," Landru answered.

Mr. R. J. Elliott of Wildrose township, Burleigh county, planted 4 1/2 bushels of potatoes last spring. He just dug them last week and his crop from the 4 1/2 bushels yielded him 180 bushels. The following are the items that were considered: Interest, $1.20, depreciation, $11.20, 200 bushels of oats at 95 cents per bushel, $121.50; three tons of hay at $15.00 per ton, $45.00; miscellaneous, $1.00, making a total of $190.00. ## Women of Middle Age

Owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change in her life without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms. Those dreadful hot flashes, smothering spells, fainting spells, nervous troubles and irregularities are symptoms that should have prompt attention. These two letters prove what a successful remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is for women at this time of life.

These Two Women Helped During Change of Life.

Taunton, Mass.—"I could not eat or sleep for six months, had fainting spells and could not walk without help for three months, caused by female trouble. My cousin, who was a doctor, told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me greatly. Then during the change of life I used the same remedy. I am seventy years old now and am able to do my own housework and walk one mile to church every Sunday morning and evening. I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends having the same troubles as I had. Your remedy is the best on earth. I cannot find words to express my gratitude for it."—Mrs. SUSAN C. STAPLES, 187 B School St., Taunton, Mass.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I want to tell you how much I owe to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have been suffering from female troubles and am going through the change of life. I was taken with a pain in my side and a bad headache. I could not lie down, could not sleep. I suffered something terrible and the doctor's medicine did me no good. All my pains got worse instead of better. I began taking the Vegetable Compound and felt a change from the first. Now I feel fine and advise any one going through the change of life to try it, for it cured me after I had given up all hope of getting better. I will tell any one who writes to me the good it has done me."—Mrs. MARGARET DANZ, 71 N. 11th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

WHEAT PRICES SLUMP DUE TO OVER SUPPLY

This is Reason Given by President of United States Grain Company

CANADIAN PRICES DOWN

Difference in Exchange Between Two Countries Also Factor in Situation

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 14.—The recent sharp drop in the wheat market has been attributed to three major causes, according to local grain men, who declare charges by various farmer organizations of the northwest that the principal grain exchanges are manipulating the wheat market and forcing its price down are without foundation.

The three reasons, the grain men give, are the hesitant flour buying by the housewife, large imports of Canadian wheat and the general trend to lower prices in all commodities.

"The housewife, who feeds 105,000,000 consumers, has had large surpluses of flour on hand," Frank L. Carey, Minneapolis grain man and former vice president of the United States Grain corporation declared, "and they have not had to buy. Consequently this condition was reflected in the mills keeping away from the wheat trade."

Take Advantage
Canadian farmers who have taken advantage of the difference in exchange rates between the Dominion and this country, now face the problem of a falling wheat market, as prices there are depending with those in American exchanges, grain men here contend. They have petitioned the government at Ottawa, already, to re-establish the wheat price control which was discontinued recently.

A person can buy wheat in Canada at $2.55 a bushel and sell it in Minneapolis at $2.35 and still make a profit. Mr. Carey said. "He loses 21 cents on the face of the transaction but when he remits in American money, he finds it at a premium of 10 per cent, which gives him a profit of 23 1-2 cents. Subtracting the original loss, his net profit is 2 1-2 cents a bushel."

Members of grain firms here also point out that the declines in wheat values coincide with similar and even more severe declines in many other articles of general use.

In connection with the wheat financial tangle, Roy A. Young, governor of the Federal Reserve bank here in a reply to statements of the manager of the Bank of North Dakota relative to the credit extended to North Dakota by the federal bank, said that the Federal Reserve bank "is as fair and liberal as the law permits."

Young showed figures that credit extensions to North Dakota farmers on August 31 this year were more than $7,500,000, as compared with slightly more than $1,000,000 a year ago, or an amount twice the reserve deposits of its North Dakota members, which total over $3,500,000.

PRISON PAPER GIVES JOY TO LIFER EDITOR

Charles Chapin Says Writing His Book in Prison Saved Him From Lunacy

DELVES IN SPIRITUALISM

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first interview to be published with Charles E. Chapin, since the former city editor of the New York Evening World began to serve his life sentence in Sing Sing prison for the murder of his wife. Chapin was one of the best known American newspaper men, and his crime two years ago caused a tremendous sensation. He always maintained he was involved in financial difficulties when he killed his wife, and that he had intended to commit suicide after that, but lost his nerve.

N. E. A. Staff Special.
New York, Oct. 14. Spirit messages he says he received from his wife through other persons, telling him she was forgiven him for murdering her, bring no comfort to Charles E. Chapin.

There are no "criminal classes," only the "wronging of his book," "Charles E. Chapin's Story," just published, saved the author from madness.

These and other remarkable statements were made by the former city editor of the New York Evening World in the course of the first interview he has given since he began serving a life sentence in Sing Sing for uxoricide.

The interviewer began by asking Chapin how a man accustomed to giving orders and having them obeyed had adapted himself to the jail routine of a convict's life.

Book Saves Him.
"When I came here two years ago I was a wreck," said Chapin calmly. "I thought I would surely wind up in a mad-house. But I managed to pull myself together by occupying my mind with the writing of my book. I can't tell you how much the work of preparing the volume meant to me. You see, I had no notes at all and I had to depend entirely upon memory. This meant all kinds of concentration on matters of the dim and almost forgotten past and by devoting my mind to these matters I began to forget my troubles. It was work, and this work alone, that saved me from stark, raving madness."

Chapin does not believe in the existence of distinct criminal types. "Find," his view is, "that the criminal classes are just average human beings, many of whom never had much of a chance to be anything different."

"If you took a trainload of men from the subway and dropped them into prison, you couldn't tell them from us. If you put us in their clothing, you couldn't tell us from them. Our prison population is made up of men from almost every walk in life. There are bankers and lawyers and clergymen, college men and illiterates, and there are butchers and bakers and candlestick makers. There are just ordinary thieves and gangsters and gunmen. There is a lot of good in most of them."

No interest in it.

"Has the wave of spiritualism that is sweeping the world touched the prisons? I don't think so. I haven't noticed much interest in it. As for me, some of my dearest friends have offered me consolation in the form of spiritualistic messages they claim to have received. These friends, I know, are sincere, and yet I find no comfort in the messages they bring me. "Perhaps the reason is that years of newspaper work have made me hopelessly matter-of-fact. And maybe the reason is that these messages are merely another form of sympathy; and few prisoners, you know, want sympathy. I know I don't."

"Not having my own sympathy, I don't want that of others. The review of my book that I first read was one in which the critic said that a person could read the story through without feeling that the author was inviting pity. I liked that."

Invited to New York
"I had an experience recently," continued Chapin, "that may interest you. I had read about a New York socialist who advocated the substitution of laboratories for prisons. I don't quite agree with some of the doctor's ideas and I wrote him a letter asking a few questions. He invited me to come to New York and talk the matter over with him. I replied that, as the social season was at its height in Sing Sing I did not think I could get away."

"And now," said Chapin, rising "come with me and I'll show you the home of The Sing Sing Bulletin. He signalled for a guard, who walked behind him as he led the way to the office of the prison paper he edits. A cheerful little office it is. "Some office, what?" came from the now broadly smiling boss of the paper. He seemed positively happy as he sat down at his desk and cast a hasty glance at some copy that was awaiting his attention. And why shouldn't he be? Wasn't he Editor Chapin once more?

FRUIT BOXES ARE SYMPHONY STAGE

Grandview, Wash., Oct. 14.—The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra has come and gone. Its concert here was one of the most novel in its history and an event that Grandview folk will talk of for some time.

Grandview has only 1,011 inhabitants, but when the town's leaders heard there was a chance to see a national concert while the orchestra was en route between Yukima and Walla Walla, they didn't give any other town on the line a chance.

There wasn't any auditorium, so they made 7,000 fruit boxes do as a floor and stage in an empty warehouse. Then they declared a municipal holiday. Everything but the post-office was closed.

They met the musicians at Fraser, drove nine miles to Grandview, and gave them a combination breakfast and lunch.

Then the concert began.

Why Is An Advertisement?

WHEN THE BABY LAUGHS, WHEN THE SUN SHINES, WHEN THE FLOWERS BLOOM, WHEN DINNER SENDS OUT ITS INVITING AROMA; WHEN ANYONE OF TEN THOUSAND THINGS HAPPEN, WHICH ATTRACT YOUR ATTENTION AND GAIN YOUR INTEREST, YOU ARE BEING ADVERTISED TO.

And this is the "why" and the whole purpose of any advertisement; to gain your attention, secure your interest, arouse your desire; to tell you something you don't know, to remind you of something you have forgotten, to convince you of something concerning which you have been hesitating, to help you get the best at the least cost.

Why is an advertisement? You can wrap the whole question up in a few words: To make you happier. Think it over, and see if you don't find that to be the true answer.

"FRIVOLITIES OF 1920" TO BE SEEN AT THE AUDITORIUM TONIGHT

The first revue which the leap year has sponsored will convert into the stage of the Auditorium, coming tonight, is the "Frivolities of 1920." It is the initial edition of a sequence of extravagant spectacles which G. M. Anderson, but yesterday with "Broncho Billy" of the cinema, plans for the theatrical and artistic refinement of those who like to see the bucolic fluff from the bottom of their entertainment, who like to mimic in the knee, all of stock, elegant of shoulder, vivid of hue, gay and rapid in its tempo, astonishing in its variety, flippant and impertinent in its address, swarmer in its carriage, ultra and immaculate in its setting, melodious, fleet-footed and modern.

MOVIE ACTRESSES AND THEIR HAIR

Did it ever occur to you that every movie actress you have seen has lovely hair, while the most popular count their curls as their chief beauty? In fact, many are leading ladies just because of their attractive looks. Inquiry among them discloses the fact that they bring out all the natural beauty of their hair by careful shampooing, not with any soap or make-shift, but with a simple mixture by putting a teaspoonful of camphor (which they get from the drugist) in a cup of hot water and applying this instead of soap. This full cup of shampoo liquid is enough. After it is applied to all the hair instead of just the top of the head, the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. The hair is so fluffy that it looks much heavier than it is. Its luster and softness are delightful.

Nineteen "Frivols."

The Anderson revue is in nineteen "frivols" and two acts, and in its winding it employs the agile services of 100 of the elect of the varieties and the musical comedy platforms. Conspicuous among them are the Voltaire sisters, high priestesses of temper, Eddie Nelson and Del (thin), distributors of the most impertinent of patter, Edward Gallagher and Joseph Rolley, burnt cork slaves of jocularity; Carlton Chase, Leila Ricard, Edward Metcalfe, Dolly Best, Will Goodall May Keefe and Kitty Kelly. Hemming in this mirthful and dexterous array is the famous frivol chorus, an aggregation of shapely young women and any one of whom would not look out of place on the front cover of a popular fiction magazine.

The music to which "Frivolities" trips along is from the pen of William B. Friedlander and Harry Austracher. Tom Johnstone and Mr. Friedlander are the authors of the accompanying lyrics and William Anthony McGuire is the manufacturer of the dialogue which knits together the nineteen deftly staged incidents. Song numbers that cause the whistler to sit up in his chair are "Pretty Nelly," "Cuddle, Cuddle," "In Peacock Alley," "Music, Jass, Tap, Jasper," and "My Frivolity Girl." They run the lyric gamut.

MCKENZIE COUPLE MARRIED

Miss Mattie M. Wilson, of McKenzie was united in marriage to Mr. Hallie L. Beck, also of McKenzie, on Wednesday, October 13th. Reverend H. C. Postlethwaite of Bismarck performed the ceremony at the Presbyterian Manse in the presence of Miss Esther Baker of Sterling who attended the bride, and a brother of the groom who acted as groom's man. The young couple left immediately for Bowden, N. D., where they will visit relatives for a short time.

MISS CASELL RETURNS HOME

Miss Margery Cassell, daughter of former State Senator Cassell, who was in attendance at the State Federation last week, remained over as the house guest of Mrs. G. A. Welch and daughter Margaret, at 415 Fourth street. During the visit of Miss Cassell, Mrs. Welch entertained at a dinner complimentary to her guest and other out of town guests, Mr. and Mrs. Merton J. Orr of Jamestown and Miss Agnes V. Orr of Minneapolis. Mr. and Mrs. Orr of Bismarck were the other guests at the pretty dinner. Fall flowers served as decoration. Mrs. Welch was assisted in entertaining by her daughter Miss Margaret.

Miss Cassell returned to her home at Hope, N. D. this morning.

CANADA'S MINISTER

There will be no Canadian minister plenipotentiary at Washington in the near future. This much was decided at the recent visit of Sir Auckland Geddes to Canada. Geddes will continue representing Canada and other British lands.

The reason back of the withdrawal of Canadian plans was the British belief that if Canada was permitted a special representative Australia and South Africa might ask for similar representation, not only at Washington but in other capitals. Also, it was thought that, granting Canada's one minister, the Dominion might want representatives elsewhere.

"British ambassadors will handle British affairs, and it will not be divided among several colonial ministers. No one pretends that this will please the Canadian nationalists, and on the other hand, nobody believes it will put an end to independent agitation in Canada."

AND WHO IS RESPONSIBLE?

The cash price of wheat in Fargo recently was $2.02. That is at least 75 cents under what it was before the gamblers and their big banker accomplices again got control of the market. If all the wheat in North Dakota were to be marketed on the basis of this gambler price, the loss to growers on a 60,000,000 crop would be $45,000,000—or about $70 for every man, woman and child in North Dakota.

—Mr. Lemke's Political Organ.

Exactly, and who is responsible for that loss? The farmers of North Dakota were advised by Mr. William Lemke, and J. A. McGovern and Dr. E. F. Ladd to hold their wheat for $2.65 a bushel.

The farmers who followed that advice have lost 75 cents a bushel according to Mr. Lemke's own figures.

What do Mr. Lemke, and Dr. Ladd and Mr. McGovern advise these farmers to do now? Sell or hold?—Fargo Forum.

SPLENDID EXAMPLES

It is a good thing to stimulate the imagination of young people with tales of heroism, and if they are discouraged it is good to encourage them with examples of success after failure. But it is not good to leave the impression that he or she also must be great in the way in which these heroes were great.

Two or three boys now in school may perhaps some day become president of the United States, but not more; and if all are urged to strive for this distinction and they take the lesson to heart, it means that all but two or three are bound to be disappointed and carry through life a sense of hopeless failure. And so with other aims of the sort.

It is given to very few to be distinguished in any line, and, if all aim at distinction, nearly all must end in failure. And that means bitterness of soul after a fierce and hopeless struggle.

The bitterness is not entirely undeserved, for the desire to stand out as superior to others is not entirely generous. And even when it is gratified, it cannot make one happy if it has stunted the rest of life.

One should not strive too much to be a hero. It is better simply to do one's part. Sometimes that leads to heroism of the out-standing sort. More often it does not.

Simply doing what ought to be done and taking what comes one's way without a fuss is heroism also, and heroism of a better kind, for it is reached without an applauding audience to urge one on, and success is not achieved at the expense of someone else's disappointment.

MAGIC CHARMS FAIL

Russia is facing its fourth winter of starvation since the Bolsheviks began their disastrous experiment in materialistic autocracy. The law of economic productivity, the law of cause and effect, the law of all men's longing for freedom, has each in turn been ordered by the Soviet visionaries to cease operating. For a time, appearance was deceitful, and the Russian people seemed to believe Lenin and Trotsky had discovered how to outwit God and Nature.

But, the relentless consequences of mankind's ever returning efforts to substitute magic charms for solid work are at last making themselves known to the Russian people. Three winters of starvation have passed and the written rules, the book of formulas, the doctrine of words instead of work, are proving unable to hold in check a fourth winter of the same terrible poverty.

Herbert Duckworth, this newspaper's special correspondent, was the first reported venturing into Russia who saw below the surface and discovered Bolshevism's loosening hold. His finding started others on the way. The evidence is now becoming well nigh unanimous that Duckworth saw straight and that Bolshevism can endure but little longer.

Either Lenin and Trotsky must change their methods of government or they will be thrown to earth. They would have gone before this, but that Russia has been weakened almost to exhaustion by the rule of the Soviets. Perhaps it is now too late for them to save their necks, however, much they may bow to the coming storm. But whether they survive or not, the Soviet system of autocracy is doomed.

HARD-BOILED

The announcement that Hard-Boiled Smith is going to join the Mexican army occasioned little ripple north of the Rio Grande. Americans are glad to get rid of the man convicted of brutal treatment of American soldiers in France. Probably they have officers in Mexico the peer of Hard-Boiled Smith. If they have, one more won't be noticed.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinions of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

THE WAY TO WIN

In politics as in anything else it is intelligent work that counts and nothing will take its place.

The last two political campaigns in North Dakota, have proved that value of organization work.

In every county a real campaign has been made by the independent voters, they have made big inroads in the strength of the league gang, and in most cases have succeeded in turning a league majority into an independent majority.

The success of the efforts of the independent voters in Stutsman and Burleigh counties, probably was the most striking recorded. Stutsman county, in particular, set an example for the rest of the state in organization work.

The independent voters in that county were not content with any half way measures. They set out to build a perfectly functioning political organization which would reach every voter in the county, not once but several times during the campaign. They succeeded. Stutsman county, looked upon as a league stronghold, went over into the independent column.

The same result was achieved in a dozen other counties in North Dakota, although the turnover was perhaps not quite so decisive as in Stutsman county. But it illustrates the point we wish to make; the way to win an election is to go out and make an intelligent fight for it.

The Nonpartisan league is a highly vulnerable organization. Far from being an invincible machine as many North Dakotans had come to view it two years ago, it is a machine that can be beaten whenever an energetic fight is made against it. It is only in the counties where no active fight is put up against the league gang that these huge majorities are piled up by the Socialists. Year after year we have watched the election returns come in from the sections of the state that are known as Nonpartisan league strongholds. The independent candidates would pile up what looked like safe majorities in the eastern counties of the state, and then the returns would begin to come in from such counties as Williams, Divide, Mountrail and Bottineau. Precincts in these counties would show such voters as 30 to 2 and 40 to 5, and what looked like victory would be turned into defeat.

Why should there be such a difference in sentiment between the eastern and western counties of North Dakota? There is not enough difference in physical conditions to warrant such a variation in political opinion, and certainly about the same kind of folks reside in the eastern part as are found in the western part. We do not claim any superior intelligence or education in the valley counties. What then is the reason? It is simply and solely that the independent voters in the eastern counties have put up a fight against the league gang. They have not permitted the Socialists to have a clear field. Their campaign lies have been answered. Their propaganda statements have been challenged. The Nonpartisan league gang can be fought to a standstill and whipped in any county in North Dakota, if the fight is undertaken with enough energy. That has been conclusively proved by at least a dozen counties where a fight has been made and which have been changed from Socialist to independent. There are a score of counties in North Dakota where virtually no sustained fight is made against the Socialists. These are the ones which pile up the huge majorities for the league, and it is in these that the fight should be concentrated this coming fall. The independent voters in those counties need aid. They cannot make the fight alone, for they are now but a very ineffective minority. But they can provide the nucleus of a fighting organization, and with outside help they can make a winning fight on behalf of the independent ticket. If some 15 or more counties could be organized as was Stutsman county, then the day after election would show a dwindling independent majority. The Socialists would look to these league strongholds to wipe out an independent majority of 10,000 or 15,000 votes, and they would look in vain.—Fargo Forum.

THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF

The Experiences Of Hiram Wise

INTRODUCTION

"Hiram Wise" is a farmer of the old school who believes in the "emanation of humanity." Being a forward looking man, he is one of the first to join the Nonpartisan league when its organizers visited his community. While his varied experiences are told in story form, practically every one of them has been duplicated in real life.

"Bobs" speech has been written in dialect in order to carry out the general idea. It is "Hiram" who is doing the talking, telling the reader of his experiences with the Nonpartisan league in emancipating North Dakota.

Chapter VI

Hiram Gets His Mail Insurance

For a long time we had been hearing about how fine it would be when we had state mail insurance, an' how much money we could save. So when the law wuz really on the atoot there wuz some great rejoicing in Henroost Center. Ezra Jones said, now we wuz safe, hail or no hail, an' he expressed the sentiment of the hull community. That spring I put in an extra big crop feelin' safe that away an' so did the other farmers. Tom Jenkins, who writes up mail insurance for one of the old time papers, came out in May, an' wuz but no one but Silas Haynes insured with him—no s'ree we wuzn't goin' to pay eighty cents to insure an acre when the state could do it fer thirty, so Tom didn't get much business out our way. Wal, just before time to cut the grain, we got one of the worst hailstorms we had ever seen. Cut the grain down slicker 'n a knife, but we didn't care so much, we were insured—an' it saved cuttin'.

So we all went in an' reported our loss an' on the way I stopped fer Silas an' took him in, it savin' him a trip by team as he hadn't graduated into the flivver class yet. Wal, everything went alright, we reported our loss an' they promised to come right out. That evenin' the feller Sil insured with called at his farm an' a couple o' days later our men came out. We all got total loss, as thar wuzn't enough grain standin' to feed a sparrow.

A week later Si got a check for his losses and o' course we thot we'd get a check for ours too. But nothin' doin'.

In about two months we each got a hail warrant an' o' course I figured now I'd git my money. I took it to all the banks and couldn't find no one to take it, so I went back home again, meantime doin' considerable thinkin'.

Along about Christmas I thought of the big new bank, which we had built an' wuz one of the big things the League had done. Funny I didn't think of it before, but now I would git my money, I knew so to the bank I went. I started in front an' asked each person where I could get that warrant cashed an' each one passed me on to the next, till finally I reached the end an' there was a door there so I opened it—an' found myself on the street with that warrant still uncashed.

Seems kind o' funny, don't it? but it's the truth! I suppose that's what they call passin' the buck. In this case we bein' the buck. Finally I managed to sell that warrant at a big discount to a feller who could afford to hold it until it wuz due—so I got rid of it at last. But let me tell you this: Tim Jenkins will git my business in the future. Between the discount on the warrant an' the difference in the insurance received, I figure I came out a mighty poor second best all the way around.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

Editor Tribune.

AS all the world knows, the Province of Shantung was given to Japan by the Wilson League of Nations treaty at Versailles. On September 5th, 1919, at St. Louis Mr. Wilson attempted to justify his consenting to give Japan thirty millions of Chinese by saying it was necessary in order to induce Japan to enter the war against Germany. He said:

"Great Britain, and subsequently France, as everybody knows in order to make it more certain that Japan would come into the war and so assist to clear the Pacific of the German fleet had promised that as a rights that Germany had in China should, in case of victory of the allies, pass to Japan."

On the following day, Senator Norris in a telegram to the President, called his attention to the fact that the secret treaty of England giving Shantung to Japan was not made until March 27th, 1917, more than two years after Japan had entered the war and that at that time there was not a German ship afloat on the Pacific, due to the vigilance of Great Britain. On September 12th, 1918, Mr. Wilson sent the following telegram to Senator Norris:

"Garrison, Mont., Sept. 12, 1918. Hon. G. W. Norris, United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

"I thank you for correcting an unintentional inaccuracy in one of my recent speeches."

"WOODROW WILSON." Eight days after sending the above telegram to Senator Norris, thanking him for correcting his misstatement Mr. Wilson, on September 20th, at Los Angeles, made the same assertion that he had made at St. Louis. He then said:

"In the meantime, after this present war began, England and France, feeling that it was essential that they should have the assistance of Japan on the Pacific agreed that if Japan would go into the war and take whatever Germany had in the Pacific, she should retain everything north of the equator."

Again, at Reno, Nevada, September 22nd Mr. Wilson said:

"Great Britain and France entered into solemn covenants of treaty with Japan that if she would go into the war and assist Germany in the Pacific, they would lend their whole influence and power to the cessation to Japan of everything that Germany had in the Pacific."

The same statement was made by Mr. Wilson in a speech at Salt Lake City on September 23rd, and again in a speech at Cheyenne on September 24th. All this after his attention had been called to his misstatement at St. Louis.

The plain facts are that Shantung was not promised to Japan by the allies until two years and more after Japan had been engaged in the war. So the President's explanation is, to say the least, somewhat awry.

During the time the Versailles peace conference was in session, Roumania and Serbia became worried, and their representatives asked Mr. Wilson what under the proposed League of Nations would be the duty of the United States if these countries should be attacked. Mr. Wilson's reply was as follows:

"If the world should be troubled again, if conditions which we all regard as fundamental are challenged, the guarantee which will be given to you (in the League of Nations covenant) will send its army and fleet across the ocean."

This answer of Mr. Wilson was taken down by the official reporter of the convention at the time it was delivered. It has been quoted and discussed in the public press of all countries, and it has never been denied, until a few days since when Mr. Wilson repudiated the official report.

Under date of October 5th, 1919, in a telegram to the junior senator from the state of Missouri, Mr. Wilson denies that he ever made the statement to Roumanians and Serbs quoted above, and reported by the official stenographer.

In a public statement given to the press of the country under date of October 3rd, 1920, Mr. Wilson says: "There is nothing in the covenant which in the least interferes with or impairs the right of congress to declare war or not, according to its judgment."

yet, in a telegram to his secretary, Mr. Tumulty, under date of May 10th, 1919, Mr. Wilson says:

"I have promised to propose to the senate a supplement, in which we shall agree, subject to the approval of the council of the League of Nations, to come immediately to the assistance of France in case of unprovoked attack by Germany, thus merely hastening the action to which we should be bound by the covenant of the League of Nations."

It, in 1919, while President Wilson was in France, he was of the opinion that we were bound to go to the aid of France if she were attacked, it would seem that mere change of locality and an impending election ought not to alter the meaning of so important a document as the League of Nations covenant.

Manifestly, Mr. Wilson's disposition to explain away the meaning and danger of Article ten of the League is on a par with the explanation of his reason for consenting to the transfer of thirty millions of Chinese in Shantung to Japan.
